

Russ Bleemer is the editor of Alternatives to the High Cost of Litigation, published by the International Institute for Conflict Prevention and Resolution in New York, and Jossey-Bass, a San Francisco-based unit of John Wiley & Sons. This newsletter has been produced monthly since 1983. He is editor of Mediation: Approaches & Insights (Juris Publishing 2005). Formerly he worked as a weekly legal newspaper law editor and reporter, corporate law firm associate, and business writer and editor. He is the longtime Program Coordinator of Monday Night Law, a 130-volunteer free legal clinic at the New York City Bar Association, which provides advice to more than 1,200 New Yorkers annually in areas including housing, employment, family law, consumer credit, bankruptcy and small business law. He is also the chair of the bar committee that oversees the clinic, the Committee for Monday Night Law/Moderate Means. He is an honors graduate of the George Washington Law School in Washington, D.C., and Marietta College, in Marietta, Ohio.